POETRY.

MY HOME.

If love would find an humble spot,
Whence he should never wish to roam,
I know the place—a little cot
That shelters those I love—my home.

You may not see the eglantine
In summer clamber on the walls;
You may not see the works divine
Of the masters, in the halls:

Nor aught of artful music hear,
Nor waters drippling from a fount,
Nor birds, with music every where
Filling the sky they never mount:

But still the vines do clamber there,
And cling, and wreathe in many a fold,
And all their buds are full and fair,
That blossom into flowers of gold.

And so the halls, and all the rooms,
Are hung with sacred memories
That have their tints; and o'er their blooms
My thoughts go wandering like bees.

And loud the little baby laughs,
And flings his arms in dainty play.
And gives the peace he never quaffs
Through all the quiet sunny day.

And so if Love would find a spot
Whence he should never wish to roam,
I said I knew the place—a cot
That shelters peace and rest—my home.

ROMANCE OF FIRST LOVE.—Some thirty years ago there lived in the city of London, an opulent Jewish banker of the name of R. As rich men usually have, the subject of the present sketch had a lovely daughter rejoicing in the scriptural name of Sarah. As Sarah reached the age of womanhood, her beauty, and coupled with her father's wealth, drew to her feet many suitors; only one however, could gain the prize, and that one was H., the son of a rich Polish nobleman. But when did the "course of true love run smooth?" H., and his father became mixed up in one of the many revolutions that have occured in Poland, their estates were confiscated, and they were obliged to flee for their lives. With the flight of H.'s riches, R. discovered that his intended son-in-law would not do, and so told the young people The lovers separated with vows of eternal constancy, H. emigrating to this country and, Sarah remained in London But as the copy book says, "out of sight out of mind," and so in this case. The sea had rolled between the lovers for about a year, when a rich suitor paid his address to Sarah, who accepted and married him.—H. was almost distracted when he heard the news, but reflection coming to his aid, he consoled himself by also marrying. Years passed on; the husband of Sarah died last year, leaving her a widow, penniless, and with eleven children. In the meantime the wife of H. had died, leaving eight children. When H. heard of the abject condition of his first love, all his old affection returned. He pictured his Sarah poor, and with a large family dependent upon her, which resulted in sending for her and her children. After mutual reiterations of unchanged affection the marriage day was fixed, and on Sunday last, the parties were married by a Jewish minister. They numbered one hundred and four years between them—the lady being fifty years of age, with traces of former great beauty still existing, and the husband fifty-four years old.—The newly married have a grown up family of nineteen olive branches, to twine around their domestic hearth-stone.

QUAKER young ladies in the Maine Law States, it is said, still continue to kiss the lips of the young temparence men to see if they have been tampering with liquor Just imagine a beautiful young girl approaching the young temperance men, with all the dignity of an executive officer, and the innocence of a dove, with the charge: "Mr.——, the ladies believe you are in the habit of tampering with liquor, and have appointed me to examine you according to our established rules: are you willing?"—You nod acquiescence. She gently steps close to you, lays her arm around your neck, dashes back her raven curls, raises her sylph-like form upon her tip-toes, her bosom against your own, and, with her augelic features lit up with a smile, as sweet as heaven, places her rich, rosy, pouty, sweet sugar, molasses, honey, butter, eggs, strawberry, sunflower, lilly, rosebud, honeysuckle, tart, cream, baby-jumper, apple-pie, peach-pudding, apple-dumpling ginger-bread, nectar lips against yours, and—(Oh, Jerusalem!)—bussus you! Hurrah for the gals and the Maine Law, and death to all opposition!

"KALVES."—"You are from the country, are you not, sir?" said a dandy clerk, in a bookstore, to a handsomely dressed quaker, who had given him some trouble.

"Yes."

"Well, here is an essay on rearing of calves."

"That," said Aminadab, as he turned to leave the store, "the had better present to thy mother,"

A WESTERN editor cautions his readers against kissing short women, as the habit has made him round shouldered.

BIG BRINDLE.—In Nashville, many years ago, there resided a gentleman of great hospitality, a large fortune and though uneducated, possessed of hard-knot sense. Colonel W. had been elected Judge of the County Court. His elevation, however, had made him somewhat pompous, and he became very loud in using big words. On his farm he had a large mischievious ox, called "Big Brindle," which frequently broke down his neighbors' fences, and committed other depredations, much to the Colonel's annoyance. One morning after breakfast, in presence of some gentlemen who had stayed with him over night, and who were now on their way to town, he called his overseer and said to him:

"Mr. Allen, I desire you to impound Big Brindle in order that I may hear no more animadversation of his eternal depredations."

Allen bowed and walked off, sorely puzzled to know what the Colonel meant. So after Colonel W. left town, he went to his wife and asked her what Colonel W. meant by telling him to "impound" the ox?

"Why," said she, "the Colonel means to tell you to put him in a pen."

Allen left to perform the feat, for it was no inconsiderable one, as the animal was very wild and vicious, and after a great deal of trouble and vexation he succeeded.

"Well," said he, wiping the perspiration from his brow and soliloquising, "this is impounding, is it? Now "I'm dead sure the old Colonel will ask me if I impounded "Big Brindle," and I'll bet I'll puzzle him as bad as he did me.,'

The next day the Colonel gave a dinner party, and, as he was not aristocratic Allen, the overseer, sat down with the company After the second or third glass was discussed, the Colonel turned to the overseer, and said:

"Eh, Mr. Allen, did you impound "Big Brindle?,"

Allen straightened himself up, and looking around on the company, said:

"Yes sir, I did; but old "Brindle" transcended the impannel of the impound, and scatterlophisticated all over the equanimity of the forest."

The company burst into an immoderate fit of laughter, while the Colonel's face, reddened with discomfiture.

"What do you mean by that, sir?" said he.

"Why I mean, Colonel, said Allen, that old "Brindle' being prognosticated with an idea of the cholera, ripped and tared, snorted and pawed dirt, jumped the fence, and tuck to the woods, and would not be impounded no how."

This was too much; the company roared again, which the Colonel was forced to join, and in the midst of the laughter, Allen left table, saying to himself as he went:

"I reckon the Colonel won't ask me to impound any more cattle."

HOW THEY ARE MADE.—A large proportion of the work bestowed upon the manufacture of watches in Switzerland is done by cottagers who cultivate the earth in the Summer, and in the Winter shut themselves up with their families during the inclement season, which lasts three or four months. The whole family devote themselves to the work of watch movements, Not only do the children work, but the dog turns a wheel, and put in motion a lathe or a pair of bellows. First, the rough part of the movement is made by water-power. Particular parts are assigned to the young members of the family, while others are employed in putting the plates and wheels together When a sufficient number have been prepared the master transports them on the back of a mule, to some town or village, where he sells them to little watch-makers, who complete the movements, or else they are sold to traveling agents who case them in silver or gold.

BLESSED be he who first invented sleep! but shall not the inventor of this luxurious bed be thrice blessed?

The last novelty from Germany is a musical bed, which receives the weary body and immediately "laps it in Elysium"—It is an invention of a mechanic in Bohemia, and is so constructed that by means of hidden mechanism a pressure upon the bed causes a soft and gentle air of Auber to be played, which continues long enough to lull the wakeful to sleep. At the head is a clock, the hand of which being placed at the hour at which the sleeper wishes to rise, when the time arrives the bed plays a march of Spontoni, with drums and cymbals, and, in short, with noise enough to rouse the seven sleepers.

"THERE is no peace this side of the grave," said a distinguished clergyman when preaching at the grave of a deceased friend.

"Well, old chap," said a sailor standing on the opposite side of the grave, "you can come over to this side, we are quiet enough here."

FEMALE SOCIETY.—Without female society we should degenerate into brutes. This observation applies with tenfold force to young men, and those in the prime of manhood. For, after a certain time of life the litterary man makes a shift (a poor one, we grant) to do without the society of ladies. To a young man, nothing is so important as a spirit of devotion (next to his creator) to some amiable woman, whose image may occupy his heart; guard it from polution, which besets it on all sides. A man ought to choose a wife as Mrs. Primrose did her wedding gown, for qualities that "wear well." One thing at least is true, that if matrimony has its cares, celibacy has no pleasure. A Newton, or a mere scholar, may find enjoyment in study: a man of literary taste can receive in books a powerful auxiliary; but a man must have a bosom friend, and children around him to cherish and support the dreariness of old age.

CELLERY BETWEEN TWO ROWS OF CORN.—It is the practice, and a very excellent one, of one of our most successful gardeners to grow his cellery between two rows of corn. By so doing he is enabled to have two crops of the same piece of ground, and neither one or the other suffer in consequence, while on the contrary, the cellery is better than when occupying a piece of land by itself, from the fact that the corn forms an excellent shade and screen to the young tender plants.

At the time of cellery planting, say July, a trench in the ordinary way is taken out in the center, between the rows, a heavy coating of manure is forked into the bottom of these trenches, and the plants set out the first favorable day. They want watering in very dry spells, a few times after planting, otherwise they will require no further care until they are fit to earth up, by which time the corn will be out of the way, and they have full possession of the soil at the very time cellery grows the most vigorously.—Country Gentleman.

WHITE QUAILS.---The Humboldt Times of the 20th inst, says:

Wm. M. Bohall, of Arcata, has in his possession two California quails which are perfectly white. They were taken by Mr. B. in a net with others, on Dow's Prairie, a few miles north of Arcata.—They are regarded as a great curiosity, no one in this vicinity having ever seen the like of them before. They are certainly very beautiful, and many are curious to know if white quails have been seen in other localities on the coast.

WHITE QUAILS.—According to the Humbolt Times, white quails have been caught near Arkata, and are thought to be the first ever known on this coast.—This is a mistake. Mr. Scholl gunsmith of this city, has a white quail, stuffed, which was killed as far south as Los Angeles.—Butte Democrat.

A FARMER called at the house of a lawyer to consult him professionally.—"Is't squeer at home?" he inquired of the lawyer's wife. He was answered negatively. After a moment's hesitation, a thought relieved him. "Mebbe yourself can give information the same as 'te squeer?" The kind lady promised to do so if she found it in her power, and he proceeded as follows: "Suppose ye wur an old white mare, and I should borrow ye to gang to the mill wi' a grist on yer back, and ye should get no farder nor half way when all at once ye should back up and rear up, and kneel down backwards, and break yer d—d neck—who'd pay for ye? Not I—darn me if I would!" The lady smilingly told him, as she closed the door, that as he himself had settled the case, her advice would be superfluous.

"Come, Harry, be a good child and go to bed, you see it is sundown, and the little chickens all go to roost at that time." Yes, Aunty, but the old hen goes with them

AT best life is not very long. A few more smiles, a few more tears, some pleasures, much pain; sunshine and songs, clouds and darkness; hasty greetings, abrupt farewells—then our little play closes, and the injurer and the injured will pass away. Is it worth while to hate each other.

THE LAST YANKEE STORY.—A lady passing through New Hampshire, observed the following notice on a board:

"Horses taken into grass. Long tails three shillings and sixpence, short tails two shilings." The lady asked the owner of the land the reason for the difference of price. He answered, "You see ma'am, the long tails can brush away the flies; but the short tails are so tormented by them that they can hardly eat at all.

AN ENGLISH witness, on entering the witness box, had a Testament presented to him but he declined to be sworn, saying, "I'll tell a lie wi' ony mon, but I'll not swear to it."

A BEAUTIFUL INCIDENT.—There is something suggestive as well as beautiful in the following incident. It reminds us of those who sing the siren song of pleasure while the voyage of life is about to terminate:

When the ship South Seaman struck on the French Frigate, Shoal, two little canaries which the captain had hanging in his cabin, were awakened by the noise, and regardless of the confusion around them, commenced singing one of their inimitable songs, though it was hardly daybreak. The little songsters continued to sing with untiring zeal,

"The sweetest song ear ever heard,"

During all the time the sailors were getting ready to leave the vessel, as if to cheer them up in their disheartening situation. The officers were forced to leave the birds on the wreck; as they were unable to save even their own clothing, but these cheerful little songsters remained singing to themselves the requiem of the gallant ship.—Red Bluff Independent.

DIFFERENT animals have different ways of accomplishing the same thing. A condor finding a large tortoise, stoops down to his sandy bed, seizes him, lifts him high in the air above a rock and lets him fall, and then picks out the meat at his leisure. An anaconda finding the same animal, slowly coils himself around him and crushes him to a jelly, like a great estate devoured by a chancery suit.

THE component parts of an editor are defined thus: The constitution of a horse, the obstinancy of a mule, the independence of a wood sawyer, the pertinacity of a dun, the endurance of a starving anaconda, the impudence of a begger, and must be a moving target for everything, and to assist "busy bodies" to pry into the business of their neighbors. If he does not come up to this discription he is not thought a good editor.

A good many years ago, says the Boston Post, a Massachusetts man was elected to the office of Lieutenant-Governor. When the fact of his election was announced he was called upon to make a speech. He proceeded to acknowledge the honor in very handsome terms, and added that he had no doubt he should make a good "lieutenant" Governor for that was the office he had always held in his house.

A little boy three years old was blessed with a new little sister. The day following he was required to be very still, and the reason given therefore, that his mother was very weak and his sister too. He obeyed the injunction carefully. In the course of the day some playmates came to the house; he rushed to the door pointing his little finger up to check their noise, said "Be very quiet—I have got a new baby sister, and she is very weak and tired—for she has walked all the way from Heaven to-day and you must not disturb her.

A SIMPLE REMEDY FOR POISON.—The best remedy, because generally nearest at hand, is to give a teacup full of warm water, mixed with a teaspoon-full of table mustard. This will act very quickly as an emetic. If necessary, repeat the dose.

A man down east has invented yellow spectacles for making lard look like butter. They are a great saving of expense if worn while eating.

"THERE'S where the boys fit for college," said the Professor to Mrs. Partington, pointing to the school in Bedford street.

"Did they?" said the old lady, with animation, "and if they fit for college before they went, they dont't fight afterwards?"

"Oh yes," said he, smiling and favoring the deceit, "yes, the fight was with the head, and not with the hands."

"Ah, the bad boys! butted did they?"

A WIDOW lady, sitting by a cheerful fire in a meditative mood, shortly after her husband's decease, sighed out:—"Poor fellow—how he did like a good fire. I hope he has gone where they keep good fires."

A BOSTON paper says that many years ago the whole town of Nahant, was purchased by a farmer for a suit of clothes, and that then the only inhabitants were wolves and deer. The same may be said of most of the inhabitants now, only the wolves are in sheep's clothing, and the dear in crinoline.

A quaint writer says: I have seen women so delicate that the were afraid to ride, for fear of the horse running away; afraid to sail, for fear the boat might upset; afraid to walk, for fear the dew might fall; but I never saw one afraid to be married!"

LADIES who array themselves in patent hoops should sing, as they dress—"Still so gently o'er me steeling.

Election Returns for Yolo County.

In our next publication we shall give a full return of all the votes cast in every precinct, which will show the number in each.

Election Result and its Effect.

The crisis so eagerly looked forward to, is past, and exhausted stump-speakers and office-seekers are now looking forward with painful anxiety to ascertain the result of their labors—to learn whether the indefatiguable exertions manifested by them in behalf of their favorites have been fraught with that success so advantageous to-their pockets and so congenial to their dearest, private interest. The election is over, and no matter who is President, there will be thousands of the above named classes who shall be forced to submit to the sore and bitter pangs of disappointment. Great orators, learned statesmen, and political sages must now lay back on their oars to concoct some more effectual plan how to defeat their victorious rivals in another struggle; some new appellation must be applied to give significence to their creed, some glaring swindle, extravagence or incompetency in the Administration must be detected in order to strengthen their party and detract from their opponents the reputation which gave them office.

But apart from that class who labor so assidiously in every campaign merely for pecuniary remuneration and selfish motives, there will be no inconsiderable number of Union-loving citizens who will keenly experience remorse on hearing of the defeat of the doctrine they cherish and the utter inefficacy of principle to establish the great object it had in view. There will be one consolation, however, left to alleviate the gloom occasioned by their adverse fortune and defeat—that is, an assurance that four years from now, another opportunity will be offered them to raise their "banner in the breeze;" and, with thought of naught but victory, in proud defiance, take the field, and give "battle to the foe."

Their will be still another disappointed class, who are neither instigated by force of patriotism nor carried off by enthusiasm, but who are ever on the alert for opportunites of gambling. They exist amongst us, and may be found in all the grades of oppulence and poverty—from the capitalist who bets his thousands to the more vigorous but less fortunate hombre, who labors for a living, and can only afford to risk a pair of boots or pantaloons. And, with what anxiety, will each and every one look forward for the arrival of the Pony that bears the news of foul defeat or glorious victory.

ON TUESDAY last, the celebrated stallion, Ben Dragon, owned by D. B. Sutton of this county, died of inflamation of the bowels. We regret to have to chronicle so severe a loss to one of our most esteemed citizens. Ben Dragon was valued at $1,500.

COUNTY SEAT OF YOLO.—The vote for choice of county seat in Yolo is as follows: Cacheville, 526: Washington, including Restines, 616; Knight's Landing 306.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.—The Board met last Monday morning—the business done was principally road districts. The Board adjourned to the 16th instant.

ONE DOLLAR.—Freight is now being taken from here to Sacramento for only One Dollar per ton, and Sacramento to to this place; two dollars per ton, by the steamer Henrietta, Captain Arcega. J. & J. W. Baldwin is the agents.

Governor Downey has commissioned Theodore D. Rand Commissioner of Deeds for Philadelphia, and H. E. Sanders Commissioner of Deeds for Washington, D. C.

Location of County Seat.

It is with feelings of pleasure we note the tranquility which prevailed in our little town during the day of election. The prepossessing and orderly manner in which the affairs of the day were conducted, and the calmness with which every one interested labored for their own or their friend's interest, reflects much credit on the people or this precinct; and, so far as we can learn, was only the counterpart of all that transpired at every other precinct in the county. It seemed as if every individual voter had previously determined on the course he would pursue and candidates for office had neither resourse to captivating harangues or fine promises, but waited patiently for the result.

There was but one feeling of interest which seemed to pervade the minds of the component portion of the voters of this county, namely, the manifestation of their disposition as to the most suitable place for the location of County Seat. Knight's Landing, Cacheville and Washington are all envious of that honor, and according to an Act of the last Legislature the people of the County were required to take a vote on this question at the general election held on the 6th inst. This has been done, but as it has been decided by the Supreme Court that the people have not the power to locate their County Seat, it only remains for those rival towns to present their claims in a proper light before the coming Legislature, so that that body may deliberately determine which one offers the greatest advantages to the County, or is likely to be most acceptable to the people.

The superior advantages of Kinight's Landing for claiming to become the County Seat, is obvious, from the fact, of its fine location on the Sacramento river, easy of access by good roads from all parts of the interior, and consequently it is destined to become the great emporium for the produce of Yolo county. Ere another year goes by the Railroad track will be laid, Knight's Landing become a depot and the fleet iron horse—the messenger of commerce, will snort and whistle loudly for our productions to waft them to a ready market. With the double facilities, of steam, by water and by land, Knight's Landing will eventually become a city of no inconsiderable importance, situated in a thickly settled portion of the county and hence it is the most desirable site for County Seat.

Apart from the above considerations, the citizens of Knight's Landing have already contributed the sum of $3,350, (a sum which will probably augment to $5,000 before January next,) and given bonds before a Notary Public, for that amount, to be applied for the purpose of erecting a suitable Court House, Jury Room, Sheriff's and Clerk's offices—provided, the Legislature of 1861 will see proper to establish the County Court at this place. This, in addition to town lots, which they offer would be a great saving to the tax payers of this county, and not only that but they could place some reliance in the security and durability of good, substantial, brick buildings.

To tax payers of Yolo county, this is a question of much importance—one which requires consideration and action previous to the decision of the Legislature, for assuredly that honorable body cannot consistently locate the County Seat where the majority of the citizens do not want it. The county is now nearly free of debt, and in the event of its seat being established at any other place except Knight's Landing, the first thing necessary to be accomplished is the erection of suitable buildings. A sum of $10,000 will be required for such a project; and if so, the tax upon the people of the county will necessarily be $20,000. County scrip must be issued, bearing ten per cent. interest from date, and if not redeemed, which may be likely, for four or five years, will gain a per centage of fifty cents on the dollar. Here the people are compelled to pay two prices for that which is tendered them at Knight's Landing free of charge.

We make the foregoing statement not in anticipation of any material benefit to to be derived by us, but simply to call the attention of the farmers to their own interest, and if possible to relieve the county from the disagreeable predicament of becoming involved in debt for years to come.

LARGE CONTRIBUTION.—The people of Knight's Landing, at the late election, contributed toward the Washington Monument Fund, the sum of four hundred and fifty-five cents. Big contribution, very!

RAILROAD TO OROVILLE.—The Supreme Court having affirmed the power of the Board of Supervisors of Butte county to issue the railroad county bonds under the Act of the last Legislature, the contractors for the road, Cheenery & Binney, will immediately commence the work of grading. Their intention is to push it through as rawidly as possible. In a few days Cheenery will leave for New York, to purchase iron and rolling stock. We are informed that arrangements for obtaining the funds necessary to secure the iron, etc, have been perfected, and that materials will be shipped as soon as practible after reaching New York. This enterprise, therefore, may be considered as in a fair way to be consumated about as soon as the Central Valley Railroad will be completed from Lincoln to Marysville. The later city, then, must give up all idea of becoming the terminus of a railroad. The tendency of such road is up the valley toward Shasta.—Union

Atlantic News.

The Pony, with St. Louis dates to October 27th, reached Carson City on the 7th inst. The following is from the Union's dispatch:

Some of the Hotspurs of the South continue to bluster about what they intend to do in case of Lincoln's election, but nobody heeds them. Their latest Quixotic proclamation is that immediately after the election of Lincoln the Legislatures of the Southern States shall meet and declare the Union dissolved.

Lincoln's election is looked upon as a fixed fact. The South entertains faint hopes of New York, but no other free State on the Atlantic.

The Peidmontese army was expected before Cupua, October 15th, and it was believed that the Neapolitans would evacuate the place.

FROM ROCK CREEK.—A correspondent of the Portland Advertiser writing from Rock Creek, under date of September 30th, says:

Trout creek has been prospected a distance of about twenty miles, and gold found in paying quantities nearly the whole distance. Claims have been staked off about nine miles along the creek, and those who are at work with rockers are making from $8 to $16 per day.

New diggins have been discovered on a branch of the North Fork of the Similkameen about fifty miles from Fort Hope, and the miners there are generally doing well.

Flour seems to be the only article of food which is scarce.

The prices of different articles are about as follows: sugar, $35 to $40 per hundred; coffee, $45 to $50; flour, $18 to $20; bacon, $35 to $40; potatoes and onions retail at 20 cents per pound

Governor Douglas has paid this region a visit. He does not attempt to carry out the Colonial laws in that district the boundary line being a trifle to near.

LATER FROM AUSTRALIA.—By way of Panama we have dates from Melbourne to July 20th.

The cheif topic of interest was the New Zealand war. Officers and troops, regulars and volunteers were preparing to go to assist the forces in New Zealand.

The news from the mining districts is favorable. Snowy river, the latest discovered of the gold fields, and about as high above the level of the sea as Washoe, and like that, surrounded by mountains, continues to pay well. Prospecting parties have been sent out to Gipps' Land, by Government, but have as yet found no paying diggings.

The revenue of the Colony of Victoria, for the fiscal year ending June 30th last amounted to £3,287,505, of which £1,547,779 was from customs, £908,742 from public lands, £340,410 from licenses £67,655, export duty on gold, £106,717 postage, etc.

A fire, resulting in the loss of three lives, had occured in Castlemaine. A man named James Brown, accompained by his wife and family, had arrived from Melbourne with the intention of opening a fancy goods shop, and while looking for suitable premises, they were living in a tent on Milkmaid's Flat. As one night they retired to rest, leaving a candle burning, they shortly afterwards awakened by the tent being in flames. Mrs. Brown and the baby escaped, though not without serious injuries, but the husband and the little girls, named, respectively, Rebeca and Rachel, were burned to death.

BURNED TO DEATH.—A man named Murphy, who has been in the State for about four months only, and who returned to San Francisco from Placerville, a few days since, for the purpose of taking passage to New York, was burned to death in the San Francisco fire of the 5th inst.

SACRAMENTO.—Heacock has been elected Senator, and Curtis, Powell, Adams and Crocker, Assemblymen.

WE learn says the Union, that Russell, Majors & Co., had given orders to the Pony riders on the route that the Pony Express which left St. Soseph November 8th with the news of the Presidential election, must make the trip over the continent in seven days. If a Pony is started over the Southern route with the same intelligence, the race will be interesting and exciting.

FIRE IN SAN FRANCISCO.—The Bulletin of the 5th instant says:

At a few minutes past 2 o'clock this morning, fire broke out in the rear portion of S. C. Gardiner's vinegar factory, south side of Washington street, near Drumm. The bell had not been ringing more than half a minute, when the building in which the fire originated, together with the Miners' Exchange, adjoining, on the corner of Drumm, seemed to be completely enveloped in flames. A Mr. Glunt and his wife, who occupied rooms over the vinegar store, barely escaped in their night garments. Mr. Glunt who was employed by Gardner, and had the books and papers of the concern in his sleeping apartment for safe keeping over night. He made an effort to get hold of the books, but was driven back by the flames and narrowly escaped suffocation. There were some 35 persons sleeping in the upper part of the Miners' Exchange, or, "Old Kentucky Home," as it was formerly called. They effected their escape with great difficulty, and without securing anything of their effects. A Mr. Bennett jumped from a window, having tarried in his room too long to make a safe, exhit by the stairway Mrs. Harrison, wife of one of the proprietors of the Exchange, Mrs. Janres and Mrs. Gray were sleeping in a portion of this building, which was all on fire in five minutes after the first alarm, but they were got out in safety. It appears that the part of the building in which the fire first caught was not known to be occupied by Mr. Gardiner. It was reached by a passage way from Drumm street at the rear of the Exchange. Last night Mr. Glunt heard a noise in the room supposed to be occupied, and he remarked to his wife that it was evidently a drunken man, who had found his way in there; but there was no entry way from the front building to the rear addition—Mr. Glunt neglected to investigate the matter This morning the charred remains of a man were found on the floor of the back room of Gardiner's store. The body had fallen through into the ruins of the floor above. It is now ascertained that a man named Murphy occupied the room, and it probably was he who attracted so much attention of Mr. Glunt. Murphy came to the country about four months since. He returned from Placerville a few days ago with the avowed purpose of taking passage for New York on the opposition steamer. It was reported this morning that two more lives had been lost, but there seems to be no good reason for this suspicion. One of the missing is an Italian cigar maker. It is thought by his friends that he went out of town yesterday. The name of the other man is Carl. It is not known whether he was in town yesterday, but some of his friends say that he contemplated going to San Jose. A very through examination of the ruins has not revealed anything to confirm the suspicion of other lives having been sacrificed.

The losses, though not great, fall heavily upon the sufferers. Mr. Gardiner had just received a new stock of material — His loss cannot be less than $3,500.— The building was owned by Dr. McMillan, and was valued at about $1,200. A young man, named John Schupback, had recently bought out a half interest in Gardiner's establishment.

The Miners' Exchange was kept by Harrison & Breidweissen, young men, who had invested all their means in the business. Their loss will be about $1,000. The building was owned by James Phelan. It was old, but answered the purposes of a boarding house very well. $3,000 would be a fair estimate of its value

KILLED.—A Sluice robber named La Blange (French) was shot and killed in the mining claims of Chas. Haskell, near Arnold's ranch, Nevada county, last Wednesday night. He was shot by Mr. Knifer, the night watchman, while in the act of robbing the sluices. The robber was armed with a revolver, which he discharged at Knifer after he had received a mortal wound, but fortunately without effect. A man suspected of being an accomplice of La Blange, has been arrested at Humbug.

ABOUT GOLD.—Among the Pony's news, we find the following:

"Gold is selling at St. Louis at one and two per cent. premium. It is reported that the capitalists are cutting it down in apprehension of a crisis of some kind."

Gold being the leading staple of California, our people will be much better pleased to know that it is advancing in price—or, which is the same thing, that it commands a premium.

STABBING.—A dispatch to the Union tells us that at Genoa, on Saturday, Nov. 3rd, D. Sands, formerly of Sacramento, now a hotel keeper in Genoa, stabbed one R. Loughridge five or six times, but not fatally. The difficulty originated over some real or imaginary offence against Mrs. Sands.

BAKER, who attacked Nolan on the Henness Pass route, and who is supposed to be the murderer of L. D. Colony, was arrested at Red Bluff, on Tuesday last.

A MINISTER reading the funeral service at a grave, forgot the sex of the deceased, and asked an Emeralder, "Is this a brother or a sister?" "Nather replied Pat, "only a cousin."

"Pray, madam, why did you name your old hen Macduff?" "Because, sir, I want her to "lay on."

LEGAL NOTICES.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.—It is a wise custom, which was early instituted in our country, and has become sanctified by general observance and hallowed by a thousand associations, for the Governor of the State, when the labors of the husbandman are over, to set apart, by public appointment, for the people of the Commonwealth, a day of general thanksgiving.—The purpose of the day is to recall the blessings which have crowned the year, to fix more deeply in the heart a grateful sense of the Divine Providence of the world, and to render to Almighty God the homage and thanksgiving befitting a Christian people. The day is an honorable feature in our national history, and not to be forgotton.

I deem it, therefore, my duty, as well as my pleasant privilege, to appoint, and do hereby appoint THURSDAY THE TWENTY-NINTH DAY OF NOVEMBER NEXT, a day of public thanksgiving for the people of the State of California. And I invite and urge them, on that day to cease from their ordinary avocations, to assemble in their houses of worship and render unfeigned thanks and praise that the seed time and the harvest have returned to us; that the earth has yielded so bountifully its increase; that peace and prosperity and health have prevailed within our borders, and that the blessings of civil liberty, and all the sacred privileges of education, freedom of conscience, and a holy religion continue to be the birthright of the humblest in the land.—Let it be a day, too, of generous deeds, when plenty shall give its abundance; when the poor shall be remembered, the sick, the widow and the orphan visited, and when by kind offices and rational fellowship, all the bonds of a genial and charitable social life shall be multiplied and strengthened. And while thus gratefully remembering the past and improving the present, let us improve the Divine blessing that the earth fail not in its generous returns; that neither pestilence nor civil discord, nor foreign war come to afflict us; that the Union our fathers established may be preserved to us, and, throughout the length and breadth of the land we may be a law-abiding, God-fearing people, illustrating to the world the righteousness which exalteth a nation.

Given under my hand and the great seal of the State, at Sacramento, this twenty-third day of October, in the year of our Lord, eighteen hundred and sixty, and of the independence of the United States the eighty-fifth.

THE

Knight's Landing News.

News Items.

We glean the following items of news from the Daily Bee: A shooting affray occurred near Rudsell's landing, recently, between James Schio and Joseph Shiapicasse, in relation to building a wharf at that point. Shiapicasse drew his pistol, whereupon Schio, who had a shot gun drew it and fired. From fifty to seventy-five shot took effect in the neck, and eyes of Jo., inflicting a terrible wound.

P. W. Gibson, who has been confined in Jackson jail under sentence of death for having committed murder in Drytown, and who was to have been executed on Friday last, has escaped the gallows for the present, a supersedeas issued from the Supreme Court having arrived in time to stay the exection.

An Italian was arrested at Stockton, on the charge of being a vagrant and a beggar. He had when arrested, $250 on his person, and on examination in the Police Court it was shown that he was worth about $6,000. He was fined $30 which he promptly paid.

The Mountain Democrat is informed that J. C. Huntington, of Upper Placerville, has a pear tree, of the Barlett variety, which has borne six crops of pears during the present year, three of which have arrived at maturity, and the fourth is almost ripe.

A man named Elijah Poorman was shot and mortally wounded at Virginia City, on Friday, by A. J. Bayney. The cause of the affray was rumors of improper intimacy between Bayney and Poorman's wife.

The Semi-Weekly Independent, published at Red Bluff, says that beef is now selling at six cents per pound, in that town, and that it expects that within a another week, it can be had without price, and people paid for eating it.

Hiram White, who was committed to the county jail of Sonoma county for grand larceny, made his escape by picking the lock ot his door. A reward of $25 is offered for his apprehension.

A Chilian, named Manual Augusta, was shot in a dance house at Placerville, by a Mexican named Pancho. The ball took effect in the neck, killing him instantly. No cause is assigned for the act.

It is announced that a new steamer, the size of the Chrysopolis is to be built at San Francisco for the Sacramento trade. She is to be built by a Nevada man.

We learn from the Deseret News, that snow fell so as to whiten the mountain tops around Salt Lake, on the fourth day of October.

WASHOE.—We find the following in the Territorial Enterprise of the 28th of October, now published in Virginia City:

The Catholic Church was blown down on the morning of the 28th:

A Man named Cherry, familiarly known as "Tennessee," for some time in the employ of the Pony Express Company was found murdered at Carson City.—The murderers are supposed to be John Carr and John Russill, who have fled to California Officers are in pursuit.

R. G. Watkins, about ten days ago, killed an emigrant near Fort Churchill, who had stolen a horse. Being captured Watkins and others, in bringing him in he tried twice to escape, when Watkins told him if he made another effort to get away he would shoot him. Disregarding this threat the man made another effort to escape, when Watkins rode up and shot him through the head, killing him instantly. Watkins came to Carson and gave himself up. He was examined before Justice Dixon, who committed him for trial.

The following is the San Francisco dispatch to the Bee of Monday last:

Two murders were committed last night under the following circumstances: Michael Harrigan, late steamboat runner, was married three years since to an exceedingly pretty woman. They had lived separate for two years. He was jealous of her and, it is reported with some reason,. Last night she went from her boarding house to a coffee saloon at the corner of Pacific and Drum sts., and while there her husband entered, seized her around the neck and deliberately cut her throat. She died almost immediately. The murderer voluntarily delivered himself up at the Station House He exhibits no signs of regret.

Daniel Kelly and Patrick Donnelly, partners in the Union Boarding house, quarreled yesterday. The lie was passed, whereupon Kelly mortally stabbed Donnelly. Kelly was arrested. Donnelly is alive, but without hopes of recovery.

A gentleman on a visit to Washington one day, coolly opened the door of the Senate Chamber, and was about to pass in, when the doorkeeper asked:

"Are you a privileged member?"

"What do you mean by that?" asked the stranger.

"A Governor, an ex-member, of Congress, or a foreign minister."

The stranger replied that he was a minister.

"From what Court or country?" asked the official.

Very gravely pointing up, the stranger said "from heaven, sir!"

To this the doorkeeper waggishly replied: "This government, at present, holds no intercourse with that foreign power.
